

Course Syllabus Statements

The Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action Office and Student Accommodations and Support Services encourage faculty members to inform students of their intent to provide reasonable program modifications to them. This notice invites students to initiate the modification process in a respectful and effective way. We recommend that instructors include one of the following statements in their course syllabi. In addition to a written statement, we recommend that instructors announce their intent to provide reasonable modifications on the first day of class.

Option 1: Students with disabilities may request reasonable accommodations by contacting me. Eastern Washington University assures equal access to instruction through collaboration between students with disabilities, instructors, and Student Accommodations and Support Services (SASS). “Reasonable” means the University permits no fundamental alterations of academic standards or retroactive accommodations. If you think you may have a disability adversely affecting your academic performance, and you are not registered with Student Accommodations and Support Services (SASS), please contact SASS at 509.359.6871 or visit their office located in 121 Tawanka Commons. If you already have accommodations set up with SASS, please contact SASS to request your accommodations for this course.

Option 2: Eastern Washington University assures equal access to instruction through collaboration between students with disabilities, instructors, and Student Accommodations and Support Services. If you think you may have a disability adversely affecting your academic performance, and you are not registered with Student Accommodations and Support Services (SASS), please contact SASS at 509.359.6871 or visit their office located in 121 Tawanka Commons. I will work with you and Student Accommodations and Support Services to provide appropriate accommodations. If you already have accommodations set up with SASS, please contact SASS to request your accommodations for this course.